THE BASICS OF A PRELIMINARY REPORT

We understand that keeping you informed is an essential part of the closing process. A preliminary report is an important document that contains information specific to your transaction. To help you gain a better understanding of its importance, here is an overview of the basic sections commonly found in a preliminary report:

1. SCHEDULE A
   This section contains the “Who, What, and Where” details of the transaction. Schedule A sets forth the effective date, the names of the current property owner (seller), and the legal description of the property.

2. SCHEDULE B-1
   The requirements section lists the items that must be cleared-up or satisfied in order to issue a policy covering the new owner and/or the lender. Examples include: requiring approval of a bankruptcy trustee, requiring other persons - such as an heir or former spouse - to execute closing documents, or requiring the release of various types of liens.

3. SCHEDULE B-2
   This section notifies the buyer and/or lender of exceptions from coverage. Examples include: restrictive covenants, mineral or water rights, or utility easements. These exceptions from coverage will not be insured on the title policy.
